THE RAGING EPIDEMIC.

THE WORK OF DEATH GOES ON--- DISMAY AND TERROR.

Plague Stricken People-National aid Invoked--The Government Issues Rations and Tents for 10,000.

MEMPHIS, July 20th.—Fifteen cases of yellow fever were reported to the Board of Health this morning. Among the most prominent are W. C. Coppinger and wife, J. C. Harris, a well known dentist, Charles Philmot and wife, George Nail and two Misses Raja. Two deaths occurred, Dr. J. C. Harris and W. C. Coppinger. The exodus of citizens is in full progress and business is almost entirely suspended. The general outlook is anything but cheering.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Upon the request of the Hon. Casey Young, Secretary of War will to-day forward to Memphis 1500 tents and rations for 10,000 persons for twenty days.

MEMPHIS, July 19.—Three new cases of yellow fever were reported to the board of health this morning—Louisa T. and Viola Godsey, two sisters, residing at 48 Bradford street, and Tom Kernon, passenger agent of the Memphis and Charleston railroad. These young ladies were in attendance for three days on Mrs. Tobin, who died of the fever a few days since, and their illness is attributed to the infection of the Tobin dwellings. These cases fully upset the sporadic theory of the physicians. Indeed, a majority of those who yet remain fully realize the fact that there is yellow fever in Memphis and it is gradually spreading all over the city. All the physicians agree on one point, and that is in urging all who can to leave the city as quickly as possible. Hiram Athy, aged 14, son of Chief of Police Athy, is also very sick with the yellow fever. The doctors held a consultation on his case. Chief Athy's residence is one square east of the Tobin dwelling, at the corner of Bradford and Manassas streets.

The effect on business has been marked. Nearly every wholesale house of prominence has made arrangements and is busily engaged in shipping stocks to other cities. A run through the wholesale grocers of the city reveals the startling information that there is not provisions sufficient in the entire city to last two weeks. By Monday every wealthy man will have left the city and then will come the crisis. The poor people must be fed, and the question naturally arises, who will feed them. Upon the first outbreak of the fever, the merchants began reducing stocks until the situation is as stated. It is the desire of the officials that all should leave the city, but there are thousands of people here who cannot go unless furnished transportation, and even then would have to be fed after having been driven from home. This is no imaginary picture, but the plain unvarnished truth as stated by A. D. Langstaff, president of the Howard Association, who has taken the trouble to thoroughly investigate the situation. The cessation of all business throws fully 10,000 people upon the charity of the world, and the future to them is in anything but cheering. Even were all to go into camp, as it is proposed, they would still have to be furnished with the necessaries of life.

The stubborn facts are staring the people in the face, and what the ultimate result will be depends in a great measure on the wisdom and sound policy of a few citizens who will be left to battle with the disease and the demands of the pauper multitue. The exodus of citizens continues, and all trains leaving to-night were crowded.

The weather is warm and sultry with occasional showers. The development of new cases has given fresh impetus to the exodus of citizens.

The unfavorable news from this city, coupled with the appearance of the fever in a malignant form at Martin, has caused considerable uneasiness and grave apprehensions among the citizens of Union City. The board of health has recommended the most stringent quarantine, which will be established on all the roads leading to Memphis. Many citizens have all arrangements made to leave at short notice and should a few more cases appear at Martin a large number will leave.

To-night another genuine stampede of citizens is in progress. The rush for railroad tickets this afternoon recalls the scene of Thursday week, when 5,000 people left the city. The desire of all who can go is to go at once and there will be a jam on all the trains leaving to-night. The officers of the Hebrew hospital association to-day furnished one hundred Jewish families with the necessary funds to obtain means of transportation to distant cities. The city authorities are also sending all widows and children out of the city.

Wimbledon Shooting Match.

LONDON, July 20.—At Wimbledon in a two hundred yards' competition for the Albert prize, Milton Farrow, an American, made the highest possible score. To-day Canada won the great success; Colonel Gibson carried off the Prince of Wales prize, consisting of one hundred pounds and a badge. He scored 94 points at three ranges of two, five and six hundred yards; the highest possible score being 105 points. The score next to Colonel Gibson was 91. Corporal Gray, with a score of 80 points, wins the five pound prize. In St. Georges prizes, Lieutenant Hunter, with a score of 51 points wins three pounds; assistant surgeon Aiken, 27 points wins two pounds. In the last series of extra prizes, private Ogg and assistant surgeon Aiken, with a score of 33 points took the 13th and 14th prizes respectively. On all sides the Canadians are congratulated.

St. Louis Quarantined.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—The health authorities decided last night to put in force a partial quarantine against Memphis, and a corps of physicians and sanitary officers were sent down to establish quarantine fifteen miles below the city, and to stop Memphis boats, inspect the passengers and to make use of disinfectants.

Jerome Bonaparte Declared the Successor of the Dead Prince Imperial.

LONDON, July 21.—A meeting of Bonapartists on Saturday to determine the policy to be pursued in consequence of the death of the Prince Imperial was held at the residence of M. Rouher. It consisted of Bonapartist Senators and Deputies. Neither M. Rouher nor M. DeCassagnac being present M. Ferdinand Barrot, presiding, M. Coreaux, Baron De Mackan and speakers dwelt upon the necessity of Prince Jerome Napoleon giving guarantees. But the resolution declaring by death of the Prince Imperial, Prince Jerome Napoleon became the head of the Bonaparte family, was ultimately passed with only two dissentients. M. Barrot and Prince Joachim Murat were followed by most of those present, and on Prince Jerome Napoleon with the resolution.

The Times in a leading article says: Certain MM. Rouher and DeCassagnac would have opposed the recognition of Prince Jerome Napoleon if they had seen any chance of keeping Bonapartist organization together under another leader. DeCassagnac's organ, Lee Pays, says it will not discuss the resolutions but it is evident that none of the grave questions or immense difficulties of the pending situation were settled at the meeting. Other Bonapartist papers approve the resolution. The Constitutionel and Soleil deny authenticity of the reported address of Prince Jerome to the delegation.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

Seven hundred Zulus with seven hundred head of cattle have surrendered to the British.

Havana steamers are quarantined at New York with yellow fever.

A special from Flushing, Belgium, says the Nova Scotian ship St. Bernards, from New York for Antwerp, has been lost on the banks of that coast. Capt Blums and six men were drowned. The survivors have landed in New York.

A Mormon preacher was shot and killed by a mob in Catoosa county, Ga., yesterday.

No More Help for Negro Emigrants.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—James E. Yealman, President of the Sanitary Council, who undertook some time ago to relieve the necessities of negro refugees arriving from the South, has given up the attempt for want of funds. The refuges established by him closed Saturday night and parties arriving afterward had to camp out on the wharves and levees. He says efforts will be made to inform the negroes of the South who may be contemplating emigration that they cannot expect help from St. Louis.

STATE NEWS.

A Batch of "News Specials" by Monday's Mail.

CATAWBA COUNTY.

Weather though warm, the nights are pleasant; seasonable rain on the 13th. Trade remarkably good at Hickory. A county memorial association has been organized to erect a monument to the Confederate dead and otherwise perpetuate their valorous deeds. The Hickory Presbyterian church is ably served by Rev. T. G. Thurston. His lectures on bible characters are strikingly, interesting and instructive. Hickory makes some attractive offers in real estate to those seeking investment. Crop prospects good; corn looks well; wheat excellent in quality; tobacco production is looming up to an important industry in Catawba. A larger crop is planted this year than any previous year. Hickory now boasts five tobacco factories and one leaf warehouse.

LENOIR COUNTY.

Our correspondent at Kinston notes the same warm and dry weather. The volume of trade is an average of last years; perhaps a little steadier—indicating a brisk fall business. Unusual large sales of wheat is remarked. In the southern section of the county crops are reported in tolerable good condition. Crops in the northen section are suffering from drouth. Mr. Robert Wooten a prominent farmer, reports that forty acres of his best land will not yield him five barrels of corn. This is almost a total failure. The same land ordinarily yields between two and three hundred hundred barrels.

Joseph Lassiter charged with an attempt to rape Bettie Young last week is in jail in default of $10,000 bail.

ORANGE COUNTY.

The NEWS' Durham special says: The tobacco trade is good. High prices in consequence of dry weather.

W. Duke Sons & Company have sued Lucus Green for infringement on their Indian Pro Bono Publico. Green uses and has had patented the Indian girl. Colonel Fuller appears for Green and Judge Tourgee for Duke.

Tobacco crop reported seriously injured by the drouth.

Improvements going on in every part of town. Blackwell & Company will more than double the capacity of their building; and they will also build a row of brick stores on Main street. Captain E. J. Parish will soon be ready to move in his new brick warehouse. It is the finest establishment in the State, with a capacity inferior to none.

JOHNSTON COUNTY.

The NEWS' Clayton special says: The assessors at large commence their work this evening. They begin with Clayton township, and will take two weeks to finish the work.

The Free Will Baptist church at Johnston Union had a revival last week. Nine were baptized on the 20th instant.

Crops are looking badly on account of the many storms we have had recently. Crops are fine in those places that escaped the winds and hail.

Fall term of Mr. J. M. White's school begins at Clayton to-day, July 21st.

Encouraging Prospects.

The recent reports of the depression of trade and agriculture in Great Britain has naturally turned the eyes of the trans-Atlantic consumer to this country to examine the food prospects that it offers. The reports up to date show that while the grain crop of 1879 will not come up to that of 1878, the largest we have ever had, it is still a very good average. The area of corn is larger than it was last year, and the returns from some districts exhibit considerable gains. In the South the condition of the crop is low, owing to drought: in the Northern States it is a good average, while west of the Mississippi the average is very high indeed. The July returns spring wheat to the Department of Agriculture give an average of ninety-one as against one hundred and six for July, 1878. Drought in the Northwest and Southwest, storms and insects, have done serious damage. Winter wheat averages but 91, against 101 last year. The Pacific States average very high, and the Southern inland and New England States high. Drought and local storms have greatly reduced the average in Texas and Virginia. West of the Mississippi storms and insects have reduced the average to 89. The barley crop is also below that of last year, but is of excellent quality. The Northern raspberry and blackberry crops are very large; later peaches promise to be abundant, and grapes promise well.

Uncas and Parole.

Mr. P. Lorillard's bay colt Uncas has gone hopelessly lame, his near hock being the seat of the trouble. His training has been stopped for the season. Uncas accepted for the Goodwood stakes, to be run on July 30, and had all things gone well with him he would have come to the post carrying 102 pounds.

Mr. Lorillard's Parole has been backed for the Cambridgeshire stakes, to win £18,000 ($90,000), at the odds of forty-five to one against him. The race will take place during the Newmarket-Houghton meeting, Tuesday, October 21st, and the distance is one mile and 240 yards.

MUSCLE AND MONEY.

THE SORT OF "NIHILISM" THIS COUNTRY WANTS.

Six Hundred Russians come to "Free America" to Vote and Pay Taxes.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Steamship Mosel, from Bremen to-day brought over six hundred steerage passengers, mostly Russians. The latter alone represent a capital of over $400,000. Among them are sixty families, having two hundred and thirteen children. They are a remarkably fine looking party.

NOTE.

The Mennonites, who have been coming to this country for several years on account of the severity of the Czar's conscription laws and consistent adherence of this sect to peace. The followers of Simon Menno are amongst the most thrviing people in the world, and wherever they have planted themselves, from the Crimea to Kansas, they have saved money. The present body of Mennonites are said to bring with them $400,000, or about $1,000 each. They comprise 60 families and have 213 children. They will go west of course, invest their capital in land, houses, implements and labor, and they and their children will till the new lands thus brought into cultivation, and add many thousands of dollars annually to the productive resources of the country. They would find more hospitable homes and more productive soil in North Carolina, but how were they to know that?—ED. NEWS.

THE FEAR OF LIGHTNING.

Hints that May be of Advantage to Those Whose Dread is Now Uncontrollable.

Correspondence New York Sun.

The painful story in last Monday's papers, of two happy children killed while sitting in their garden seat under the tree by a stroke of lightning, will deepen the horror of those who suffer from fear of lightning. The most agonizing of all nervous fears is that of lightning, and a count of those whose lives are really embittered by this dread would number scores of thousands, many of them persons who know no other fear.

Twenty years ago, the writer remembers turning with a smile to others who shrank and cried at the peals of a terrible storm in a country house. The glare of a bolt coming down the centre of the room caught the eye at that very instant; the next was an explosion that shook the house, and insensibility followed. Two men in the same room were burned by the bolt, though no lives were lost; but I have never been able to smile at lightning again. To give any idea of the terror left on a nervous organization by the shock would involve extravagance of terms.

But, unfortunately, so far from being an exception, there are too many who suffer the same harassments with me. Nor are women alone subject to this nervousness. I knew a school superintendent and canal contractor, a man over fifty, with a large family, who would hide in a closet in a storm, and had been known to rush from his bed with fright at lightning. Many will remember the Professor at Bowdoin College who always retreated to the cellar in a thunder storm, although his house was bristling with lightning rods. The strongest man I ever knew, who could throw another man across the street, and work a hand-press in a printing office as if he were part of the machine, was discharged as a reporter because his desk was vacant every time there was a thunder-storm. The mother of Washington was afraid of lightning, and never failed to retreat to her room at the first flash of a storm, where she stayed till the last flash died away. The physical effects of this fear are most depressing. One woman knows when a storm is coming, hours before, by a prostration of strength and spirits, accompanied with symptoms like cholera. One of the most dauntless young women I know was sick in bed for hours after the great storm at Springfield, Mass., last month. She had received a shock of lightning years before, and never fails to be ill in a thunder-storm since.

Reason and study of the laws of lightning have done much to lessen the fear of it. It is true we live between two magazines of electricity—one in the earth and the other in the air—and a cloud charged with electricity passing over a point or body in a negative condition will discharge its surplus by the very quickest and most congenial medium, which it finds in the human body, a tree, or house indifferently. But it is also true that, provide the lightning with a convenient and easy conductor, in the shape of a stout iron rod higher than any point of a house and reaching well into the ground, where electricity may scatter harmlessly in the damp earth, it will prefer that conducting rod to anything in its vicinity, and people who stay indoors in a well-protected house are safer from lightning than any bomb-roof from bursting shells. Every accident from this cause I ever knew of came from careless exposure in situations known to be unsafe. The first I noticed after my own accident was that of a missionary's daughter killed while passing an open window, just as a woman was on Long Island last summer, while sitting at her sewing machine. A young man in Malden, I think, was killed while sitting out on a porch with his chair tipped back and his head against the knob of the door bell, making an excellent connection with the bell wire. Many men have been struck while riding into a barn on a load of hay. Many will remember the frightful calamity at Scranton, Pa., where a party of women, out picking berries on one of the high hills, crowded into a deserted log hut in a sudden storm, and seven were killed by one bolt. Steep hills with mineral veins cropping out are not places for any one to live on who wishes to escape lightning, and unprotected houses there are doubly dangerous.

It is never too soon to go in the house when a storm is rising. When the clouds are fully charged with electricity they are most dangerous, and this fluid obeys a subtle attraction which acts at great distances and all directions. A woman told me of a bolt which came down her mother's chimney from a rising cloud when the sun was shining overhead. N. P. Willis writes of a young girl killed while passing under a telegraph wire on the brow of a hill, while she was hurrying home before a storm. Sunday's sad accident at Morrisania should warn every mother that it is not safe to let children stay out of doors till the last minute before the storm falls. People should not be foolhardy about sitting on porches or by open windows, whether the storm is hard or not. Mild showers often carry a single charge which falls with deadly effect. It may or may not be fatal to stay out; it is safe to be in the house, with the windows and doors shut. The dry air in a house is a readier conductor of lightning than the damp air outside, and any draught of air invites it. A hot fire in a chimney attracts it, so to speak, and it is prudent for those who would be sure of safety to use kerosene or gas stoves in summer, and avoid heating the chimneys of the house. People are very ignorant or reckless about lightning. I have seen a girl of eighteen crying with fear of lightning, and running every other moment to the window to see if the storm was not abating, unconscious that she was putting herself in danger. If every one would hurry to shelter as soon as a storm cloud was half way up the sky, when certain it was coming nearer, if they would shut the doors and windows, and keep away from them afterward, and from bell wires, stovepipes, mantles, chimney breasts, heaters, and mirrors, with their silvered backs, which carry electricity, and keep away from lightning rods and their vicinity, and from metal water spouts, with good rods on their houses, they might dismiss the fear of lightning from their minds, so far as it is a thing of reason and not of impression.

A good lightning rod is one that is thick enough to carry a heavy charge of electricity, not less than three-fourths of an inch in diameter, which has a point above each chimney or pinnacle of the roof, joining the main rod by curves, not angles, and running into the ground down to permanently moist soil. It should be held by glass insulators fixed in blocks of wood, held by the house by wooden pegs, not spiked to the wall, to give possible connection with the interior. Any blacksmith can put up a rod which will be a perfect protection, and it should not cost $12 for house forty feet square and two stories high. When accidents happen to a house with lightning rods, it is because the rod is too small, or not rightly attached, or the ground connection is not good. The ignorance and carelessness habitual to Americans on all points not immediately connected with his amusement or money making, are fatal to such exact conditions as insure safety from lightning. It was exemplified in the case of a friend, who, afraid of lightning, slept half the summer in a newly rented house with a stout rod, till one day, happening to look at the ground connection, he found it rusted in two just above the sod, and a hundred times more dangerous than no rod at all.

So far from lightning being a danger most difficult to avoid, it has very simple laws, and may be almost entirely guarded against by proper conductors. Witness the British navy, which met 500 disasters a year by lightning, till the ships were provided with conductors, by which the fatalities were reduced to 50, among ships in the tropics, exposed to violent storms, and these may be fairly charged to carelessness in regard to the conductors.

Outstanding Currency.

The Treasury Departmen has issued a statement showing the amount of notes and fractional silver coin outstanding at the close of the fiscal years from 1860 to 1879, inclusive.

Under the head of State banks circulation, it shows that in 1860 there was in circulation $207,102,477 State bank notes; that it kept at about this volume until 1864, when National banks came into existence, and by July, 1867, there were but $4,000,000 State bank notes. The circulation did not go below the million column until 1875, when it was $786,844, and by the first of July this year it has kept decreasing till it was but $32,452. The National bank notes were ushered in in 1864, and with $31,235,270, July 1, and by the next recurrence of that date the circulation had gone to $146,137,860. In another year $281,479,908 are the figures. The next year marked an increase of $17,000,000, and so it stood at $299,000,000 on July 1st, 1868, 1869 and 1870. In 1871 it jumped to $318,000,000. In 1872, $337,000,000. In 1873 ten, in 1874 four, and in 1875 three millions added, brought the circulation to the maximum of $354,408,008. In two years it decreased to $317,048,000, but in the year following, 1878, it increased to $324,514,284, and by the first of last month it had gained five millions more.

The legal tender notes, the always welcome greenback, stepped on the stage in 1862 with $96,620,000, but trebled this in a year and went to $432,687,966, the maximum the next year—1864. But if what Glover's report says as to secret issues be true, there is no man who can make a statement of the amount outstanding at any one time. According to this statement, however, the greenbacks have gradually decreased in circulation since then, until now there are $346,681,016.

The first showing of silver certificates is for 1878, with $1,462,600, and this year $2,466,950 of the outstanding. In 1874 we had nearly $46,000,000 of fractional silver came in, and the other went out, or at least was to be redeemed in the subsidiary coin. But there is still $15,842,605 of the paper marked outstanding, which will not, of course, all come in, as it is estimated that at least $10,000,000 has been destroyed, lost or worn out in circulation. We now have $39,360,429 of the subsidiary silver in circulation which has been coined since 1875, but there is a large amount, not shown by the books, in circulation of an older date than 1875.

The total amount of currency in 1860 was $207,102,477, now it is $734,801,994. On July 1, 1875, we had $983,318,675, but it was valued in gold at $692,000,000 only. The $734,000,000 of to-day is valued at the same amount in gold. The lowest valuation in gold of the currency at any particular first of July was July 1, 1864, when the paper dollar was worth but thirty-eight cents. It must not be forgotten that the above figures are only for notes and fractional silver.

The Love Apple.

It is within the memory of many now living when the tomato, or love apple, was cultivated only as an ornament. The extent to which it now enters into the consumption of all classes is surprising. Some idea of the quantity used may be drawn from the carefully collected statistics which the American Grocer has recently published of the amount canned in 1878. According to this estimate the packages put up in the United States last year amounted to 19,668,000, distributed as follows: New Jersey, 5,592,000; Maryland, 6,840,000, Delaware, 1,884,000; New York, 1,680,000; Massachusetts, 960,000; Pennsalvania, 192,000; Pacific coast, 1,200,000; Western and other States, 1,320,000. This makes no account of the vast quantities canned by families for private use, nor of the great amount eaten in the raw state. The prices for the year have averaged from 90 cents to $1.10 per, making the value of this industry to the trade something more than $1,600,000.

Governor Vance's Movements.

Charlotte Observer.

Governor Vance left Charlotte last week and expects to spend a few weeks in and around Asheville, at which place he may be addressed for the present. It will be remembered that he was appointed on the committee to investigate causes leading to the election of Senator Ingalls, of Kansas about the adjournment of Congress, and he expects the chariman of the committee, to call the committee together between the 1st and 15ht of September. Mr. Saulsbury, of Delaware, is chairman of the committee, and its sessions are expected to be held in Topeka. As soon as it closes its labors, Governor Vance expects to return to Ohio, and take part in the Ohio campaign, which is expected to get up to fever heat about the first of October.

A SNOW STORM.

WHERE "THE COLD WAVE" COMES FROM.

Overcoats and Furs in Midsummer--- "Old Probs" Pranks in France.

PARIS, July 21.—A snow storm is reported in Daupheny, the southeastern part of France. This phenominal occurrence has given us some delightful weather here. May "the cold wave" wave.

The Reigning Queen of the London World.

London correspondence New York Tribune.

"Having a permission so wide as this, I may perhaps remark that Mrs. Langtry's beauty by daylight is at least equal to her beauty as seen in the glare of wax lights. What you will say of her in America I can't predict, but it is certain that one secret of her attractiveness in England may be found in the extreme delicacy of her loveliness. Traveling Britons say that this delicacy is more common in the United States than here. Mrs. Langtry's complexion has stood the wear and tear of London life and late hours and overheated rooms, and the peach bloom on her cheeks does not fade, nor will it rub off. She once offered her handkerchief to a gentleman who was skeptical on this point, and asked him to try. The modeling of the temples is singularly fine, the arch of the brow delicate; the eyes are saphire-blue, set in an orb of tender curve; the hair, which is soft brown, is worn low enough over the forehead to mark the contrast of color with the eyes; and when this lady is amused her laughter gives an animation to her countenance that is sometimes wanting. The face has faults which it is easy to criticise, but the beauty of it as a whole is beyond denial. It is of some one of her portraits that I ought to say all this, but the original is so much superior to the portraits, and so much more constantly on exhibition, that it seemed more convenient to speak of that. For the liberty I take—not being a photographer—I offer the humblest excuse."

The Champion Beer Drinkers.

New York city recently put forth its claims to be the cup-bearer to the god Gambrinus, as the greatest beer-absorning community in the world.

That more lager is drank in New York than in any other city in the country is undoubtedly true, but it comes it rather too strongly when it claims the hop flower crown of the world. To Bavaria belongs this proud insignia of inexhaustible thirst. Its inhabitants average annually over forty-seven and a half gallons of beer a head. The total outlay for this beverage—and it is much cheaper across the water than here—foots up to $65,000,000 per annum.

The statistics of the two principal cities of Bavaria—Nuremburg and Munich—and for Ingelstadt, are still larger per capita. The former city has a population of about 9,000, and consumes annually about two hundred and twelve gallons for each inhabitant. This at an average expense to each person of about $19; total about $1,7000,000. The population of Munich is about 175,000; the beer drank per person annually is about two hundred and forty-eight gallons; this is an average expense of about $22.30; total about $3,900,000. Ingelstadt, with a population of only about 16,000, expends annually for its favorite drink about $715,000. This is an average expense to each inhabitant of about $47,60, with the average consumption of about five hundred and twenty-eight gallons.

Figures do not lie, though New Yorkers may; and the great city must either take down its vaunt or educate its stomach to hold more of the malt fluid.

The Beautiful Butterfly.

Switzerland Correspondent Continental (Paris) Gazette.

As you are aware, we had a short time ago an extraordinary visitation of butterflies in these parts. They swarmed over the Alps, taking the St. Gothard route, and their first appearance seems to have been in the neighborhood of Wetzikon, canton Zurich, whence they spread all over the country, flew past Geneva in the direction of Lyons, were thereafter seen in various parts of France, and as far north as Boulougne, and may, for aught I know, have crossed over the Channel to take a look at England. On their passage through this canton they were very closely watched by Monsieur V. Fatio, a very competent witness, who sends some particulars of his observation to a local newspaper. He made an estimate of the numbers, and calculated the rapidity of the flight. By noting the time they took to fly from one point to another, the distance between which he had previously measured, M. Fatio arrived at the conclusion that the butterflies (which are the sort known as Vanessa cardui), travel at the rate of 300 metres the minute, say 18 kilometres, as nearly as possible 11 miles, an hour—about the speed of an express train on a Swiss railway. M Faito next proceeded to count the butterflies, or so many of them as he could see within a given space, and by means of a simple calculator he came to the conclusion that 359,250 of them were spread over a kilometre or ground 16 metres wide. Now as the march of the papilio began at six o'clock in the morning and continued until the same hour p. m., it is easy to reckon how many would wing their flight through the canton during the day; and by putting two and two together we find, or rather M. Fatio finds, the total number of them that "marched past" between sunrise and sunset to be 34,200,000.

The Monroe Doctrine Disposed Of.

NEW YORK, July 18.—A special examination into the relations of the United States Government to the projected Darien canal has been made for the forthcoming International Code Conference in London by Mr. A. P. Sprague, secretary of the American committee, and his report will show that the United States is precluded by both national and international law policy from claiming exclusive control over the enterprise. A treaty concluded by the United States and Great Britain April 19, 1850, and which is still in force, mutually guarantees the neutrality and protection of the then projected Nicaraguan canal, or any canal across the isthmus between North and South America, undertaken by any parties upon fair and equitable terms, with the consent of the Government through whose territory it should run. This treaty is said to dispose of the "Monroe doctrine" so far as such a canal is concerned, the contracting parties to it—the United States and a leading European Government—uniting therein in an invitation to all interested Powers to join in the guaranty of perpetual neutrality of such a canal and the protection of capital invested, from whatever sources and under whatever management. Mr. Sprague holds that M. de Lesseps and his company are thus already assured by treaty of the protection of Great Britain and the United States, and that the other Governments on both continents will, when the proper time comes, join in an international act declaring the projected canal forever free and open, and exempt from attack in time of war, and extending their mutual protection to the capital and commerce involved.

But He was a Poor Man.

Brooklyn Eagle.

We are deeply moved by the great tragedies of life. They do not occur so frequently as to make us callous, and they stir our souls to the very foundations of being. We read of them and shudder, lament and sympathize, as the case demands. But we do not notice the little tragedies that are occurring daily about us.

"The short and simple naanls of the p or.'

find small place in the recorded story of human existence. The murder of a lady in high life startles the world. The unfortunate death of a young prince causes the heart of humanity to bleed. The eyes waters and the lump comes in the throat as we read of the sorrow of the bereaved ex-Empress and witness the extended sympathy of a nation. But the grief of Eugenie is no deeper than that of any mother over the untimely loss of her only child. The high station of the woman, the brilliant accomplishments and lofty prospects of the young Prince, attract the attention of all and make the tragedy a great one. But on Wednesday evening, in this city, a poor, honest, hark working carpenter returned to his home after his day's labor and found his sick wife insensible and his baby dead. Can any more sorrowful condition be imagined than this? But it was only a poor carpenter, and the eyes of mankind overlook his sorrows because he is poor and insignificant. His is only one of a thousand cases of every day occurrence. and the depth of human grief has no necessary connections with the station in life of the one who sorrow.

The Late Mrs. Dr. Warren.

Continental Gazette, July 3d.

A more sudden and melancholy bereavement has not occurred among the American residents of Paris than that caused by the death of Mrs. Dr. Edward Warren. Mrs. Warren was the daughter of Samuel J. Johnstone, D. D., a clergyman of the Episcopal Church of North Carolina. Her father was descended from a colonial governor of the old North State, and was noted for his purity of life and his charitable deeds. The lady was educated at the Episcopal Female Seminary at Raleigh, and was married to Dr. Warren in 1857. She moved with her husband to Baltimore in 1860, and thence to Egypt in 1873, where she remained for two years, after which she removed to Paris. All who have met her here can testify to the beauty of her character, and the crowd that assembled at the church to pay a last tribute to her memory spoke with the eloquence of tears their high esteem for the dead and true sympathy for the bereaved ones. She was a perfectly guileless woman, a devoted wife and mother, and in the broadest sense of the term a friend and well-wisher to everybody. A leading point in her character, which will impress itself upon the minds of all who knew her, was her gracious hospitality. Her frankness was almost chilk-like, and her whole life was one of simple and kindly womanhood. Her sudden demise last Sunday evening, June 29th, cast a pall upon her former joyous home, and brought a pang to the hearts of all her friends. After the service at the Episcopal Chapel in the Rue Bayrd, the corpse was removed to Saint-Germain, a town about twelve miles northwest of Paris, to be interred in the Protestant cemetery there.

The Southern Cities to the Front.

Indianapolis News.

In Atlanta, Georgia, a new cotton mill was started the other day which, in full operation, will give employment to 1,000 persons, and will work up 19,000 bales of cotton per annum. The Augusta, Georgia, cotton factory, on June 14th, paid its stockholders a dividend of 8 per cent. for the year, besides reducing its bonded debt $18,000. During the year it consumed 11,948 bales of cotton, produced 14,769,782 yards of goods, and employed 666 hands, whose wages aggregated $155,920 for the year. Such things as this mark a change coming over the Southern people as sure as the sun and the tides. The old agricultural plantation dominion is giving way slowly, but surely, to the domination of cities. They are becoming manufacturing centers, and with their increase they will grow in influence. The system of land ownership, too, is gradually giving way, and must do so steadily, or the sample of colored emigration last spring saw will be followed in earnest. Thus the South is rapidly becoming one with the North, in manner of life, and will also be so in manner of thought and feeling.

A Significant Financial Sign.

Baltimore Sun, 19th.

Yesterday a call matured for $160,000,000 of bonds, and on Monday the last of the 10-40s are to come in, yet so perfect are the arrangements of the Treasury Department and so well prepared is the market, that these enormous transactions are not felt at all upon 'Change. They are completed without so much as a ripple upon the current of business, or ever so light a fluctuation in prices.

A Grant Boomer.

The Duke of Argyll out-booms the boomers. He said to a New Yorker. "For myself, I do not think that the people of the United States can possibly do better than to replace Gen. Grant in the White House, and to keep him there by successive elections. If need be, for the remaining term of his life."

Fire in Warrenton.

A fire in Warrenton Sunday night destroyed three large frame buildings south of the Court House. One of the buildings was insured in a Virginia company. Total loss and cause of fire our correspondent leaves us to guess.

Since the above the following telegram has been received:—

The fire bells rang this morning in Warrenton. At 1:30 the fire commenced at J. J. Laughlin's store near the ground, two store houses, one dewelling, and the Warren News office were burned to the ground. Norwood's brick store saved the town. It is thought that it was set on fire. Insurance was light.

A Pleasant Resort.

On the west side of Fayetteville street, within handy reach of Capitol Square and the leading dry goods houses, is located the ice cream saloon of M. J. Moseley. A cool resort for afternoon shoppers, with private parlors for families where they can enjoy themselves without interruption, it naturally has a large share of patoonage. Here can be obtained ice cream, soda water, fruits (both tropical and semi-tropical), confectionaries, etc. Of the quality of his comestibles there is no chance for debate, and if there should be any occasion for dispute the NEWS employees would step in and indorse Mr. Moseley's claims on the strength of the fine lot of ice cream furnished them last evening.

AROUND THE STREETS.

WHAT IS NOW DOING IN THE LINE OF IMPROVEMENTS.

The Quarries---Handsome Blocks of Stone---Where Much Refuse Might be Used.

It was the design when furnishing the articles on streets to show what had been done, what was now doing, and what was proposed to be done as fast as the Street Commissioner could reach the work with the available force at his command. This comprises all the street bridges, culverts, road filling and quarry work. It might be well, in order to show the source of the material, to commence with.

THE QUARRIES.

Down in the southeastern section of the city, near the Federal Cemetery, is the quarry from whence the stone is taken that now figures largely in the improvements of the city. In that quarry there is a large amount of stone capable of being put to good use in this way. So far as matter of sale is concerned it is doubtful whether the quarry could be profitably worked. But there has been quite a large amount of good stone cleaned out from among the mass of refuse, and as these are designed for cross-walks there is little expense attached to getting them out. Much of the stone quarried is given to those who wish to make improvements in front of their stores and residences, and the only cost attaching to the city is the quarrying. Persons wishing to set curbs or make gutters can thus get stones, on application, for the mere cost of hauling.

But there is one thing in connection with this quarry business that is worthy the attention of tax-payers who have the interest of the city at heart—their own interest as well. This is the large quantity of refuse matter lying around the quarry. In Northern and Western cities this stuff is utilized by making it a top dressing for the streets. It is of very little use to take the dirt as it accrues from quarry work and use it on the streets for filling holes or depressions; when the first rain comes it makes a simple slough. But the refuse stone reduced to a proper size and emptied into these depressions brings the road bed up to grade, and is a lasting improvement. What is needed is

A STONE CRUSHER.

This implement was talked about some months since, but when the subject came up before the Board of Aldermen it was summarily squelched on the score of economy. Now, while economy is a very nice thing to to talk about, there is such a thing as false economy. And this is a notable instance of the workings of the theory. With this stone-crusher, which could have been purchased at a cost of about $800, a thorough top-dressing could have been made for the streets at a slightly increased cost for the streets for the time being, which, for permanence, would virtually decrease the cost for succeeding years, leaving so much of the annual appropriations to be expended in

FURTHER IMPROVEMENT.

The NEWS is well aware that this suggestion will be criticised. In fact this article, as well as the preceding one and the one to follow, are intended for criticism. If a full and fair expression of the popular feeling and will is evoked the NEWS feels that its duty has been faithfully done. A portion of the list of improvements already made have been furnished. The source from which material is to be gotten is located. The next thing is to put it to practical use.

To-morrow the NEWS will furnish a statement of the number of cubic yards of earth hauled and used for filling, together with other work done, and a comparison will be instituted as to the relative cost of what has been and what might be done with different appliances. This must not be understood as reflecting on the present administration, as, whenever information has been asked it has been freely and cheerfully given.

DAILY NEWS

HUSSEY & JORDAN, PROPRIETORS

JOHN B. HUSSEY, - - Editor.

TUESDAY, - - - - JULY 22, 1879.

"NORTH CAROLINA SYSTEM."

The NEWS was ridiculed and threatened last winter for daring to talk about "the North Carolina system." Of course it was frightened. It takes very little to scare the NEWS. It is poorly sustained on a very modest income and of course it dare not fly in the face of unknown dangers. And should it now evince any trepidation in the impending discussion it will—well, it will do what it has never done on any public question.

What troubles the NEWS now is the peril of a go-between policy. It would be unmanly in a newspaper claiming to be independent and aggressive to skulk and dodge and trim. And the fight is on our own sacred dunghill. It is North Carolina versus North Carolina. It is the patriotic Cape Fear, rich in memories of a glorious past vs. the Neuse, fertile in resources, abounding in the valorous deeds and splendid achievements of as true and devoted North Carolinians as lives, and North Carolina generally, including Charlotte.

The issue is distinctly presented: The latest and newest feature in the "North Carolina System" is fraught with danger to the commercial prosperity of Wilmington and the entire Cape Fear section.

Governor Jarvis' motive is not questioned in reviving, not inaugurating, this "newest feature in the North Carolina system."

It is an error of judgement. Governor Jarvis has been cruelly imposed on, and some of our more watchful and solicitous contemporaries have courageously determined to rescue the succession from the perils that environ it.

Need we say that this triangular fight is fraught with no blood letting. Throat cutting is no new thing in North Carolina. It was that "embarrassed" condition of things that lead our 'magnanimous' Virginia neighbors to come so gallantly to our rescue years ago.

Nobody knows better how to handle statistics than our esteemed Wilmington contemporary, and in showing "the danger to the commercial prosperity of Wilmington" of course the corresponding danger to North Carolina and to Charlotte, especially, will appear.

To an intelligent comprehension of the discussion it may be well enough for our Wilmington contemporaries to formulate their complaints.

THE other day a friend accompanied his check for the daily NEWS with some pungent observations about the silver dollar. We are not yet prepared to furnish our friend with "a table giving the value of this fossil since the day it was resurrected," but we are prepared to state upon information that there is a perfect glut of silver in New Orleans, and the clerks at the United States sub-Treasury are overrun with people who demand paper for their coin. Silver is pouring in at the rate of four or five thousand dollars almost every day, the vault is already jammed full and still crowds of people present more. It is not only the dollar of the daddies that the applicants want to get rid of; the greater part of the coin presented consists of halves, quarters and dimes. Nobody seems to have any theory to account for the apparently universal desire to unload silver.

THE NEWS has a valued correspondent who differs in toto with its opinion about Mr. Webster. The NEWS likes to speak well of the dead, and our correspondent would be a happier man did he cultivate the same spirit. It was not "extravagant eulogy" in us to speak of Mr. Webster as "preeminently America's statesman." The Legislature of North Carolina, 1852, paid quite as graceful a tribute to his greatness. Mr. Brogden, then a howling Democrat, introduced the following resolution:

Resolved, That we have heard with emotions of regret, of the death of Daniel Webster, one of the greatest statesmen of the age in which he lived, and who has acted a distinguished and important part in the public affairs of this country during the last thirty years.

The resolution was unanimously adopted, and as a mark of further respect the Senate immediately adjourned.

THE distinguished editor of the Charlotte Observer "cards" the public in the sixth district and strongly intimates that if forced to make the sacrifice he will accept the nomination for Congress in that district. From the number of candidates in the woods it is not likely that anybody will be "forced" much. We have no hankering to outlive this generation, but the temptation to do so is growing on us. A North Carolina editor in Congress would be a spectacle for the Gods! Shall our journalistic vision ever behold it! The subject is one we cannot trust ourself to ponder.

A Danville correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch notes the important discovery of authracite coal near Leaksville in this States. The mine has recently been visited by President Barbour, and others and is pronounced good anthracite. If true it is a very important discovery to have made so little stir. The mine is located near the border and friends across the line have been quick to utalize the discovery. "It was ever thus" etc.

ONE of the NEWS' special correspondents begins his letter thus:

"The watchful Aurora is now opening the purple gates from the reddening sunrise and lighting up the heavens with its rosy light."

Of course that letter was devoid of news. And it is news the NEWS wants.

THE Monroe Enquirer is indignant that Union county, prolific in "claims and candidates," has not been assigned a "cock in the Congressional ring." On the day of the fight she threatens "to walk up with 'Fleary Eye' under her wing and astonish the natives by 'cleaning up the ring.'"

Building Up Agriculture!

They are having a little fun in the Georgia Legislature at the expense of the State Agricultural Department, The Hon. Mr. Smith, a representative Georgia farmer, in a speech replete with fun and bristling with point and satire said:

Another very pertinent inquiry is how is the money appropriated "to promote the interest of agriculture in this State" used by the commissioner "in his discretion?" He now has four clerks who draw a salary annually of $6,900, added to which is his own salary of $2,000, making $8,900. Added to this a few hundred dollars for traveling expenses and some other items connected with the bureau, and there is very little left to devote to agricultural or any other interests. It is a little incredible that this staff of four well-paid assistants should be needed to get up a two-page introduction to a monthly crop report compiled from the letters of correspondents. But, sir the presumption is that the honorable commissioner is himself the author of the reports and manuals to which he signs his name.

Now, what has the department done? What has it achieved as results for all this expenditure of the people's money? Why, sir he has gotten out a manual on the sheep, and another on the hog, and issued a proclamation against the locust! [Laughter.] And that is all I know of! [Applause.] In 1876 when a few innocent locusts without daddies appeared up here in Barton and Newton, under an entire misapprehension of the true status of affairs, the commissioner issued a proclamation calling out the militia for the purpose of exterminating them instanter. "Order No. 1, headquarters agricultural bureau, Atlanta," commanded that he be fought with sticks and pine brush, night and day, but in cases of emergency ditches were ordered to be dug. The grasshopper soon succumbed and was captured. A few of the ringleaders were sent to the headquarters and confined in a blue bottle until they could be exchanged or peace declared. [Laughter.] When the commissioner found that this "hopper" was not the bird he thought he was, he declared peace and turned him loose with as much agricultural wisdom injected into him as the nature of the case would allow. [Laughter and applause.]

The next in order is the "manual of the hog," in which the commissioner solemnly informs the farmers of Georgia that this animal "is fond of corn." [Laughter.] After having delivered himself of that important fact, the commissioner, feeling poetically inclined, indited the following ode:

"The bore's heed in hand bring I,
With 'garlands' gay and rosemary,
I pray you all synge merily
Qui estis in convivio.

The bore's heed, I understande,
Is the 'chefe' servyce in the lande,
Loke wherever it be founde
Servite cum cantico.

Be gladde, lordes, both more and lasse,
For this hath ordayned our stewarde;
To chere you all this Christmasse,
The bore's heed with mustarde."
[Jane's Manual on the Hog, page 11.

After a searching investigation of the manual on the sheep, I find he has not been treated with the same consideration as the hog. He has been deprived of the benefit of poetry. Being a friend to the sheep and seeing no good reason why he should not be treated with equal consideration as the hog, I move that Janes's "manual on the sheep" be amended by inserting the following:

"Little Bo-Peep lost his sheep,
And didn't know where to find him;
He let him alone and the sheep came home
And brought his tail behind him!"
[Loud laughter and applause.]

And yet, sir, we are called upon in the name of agriculture, to spend thousands of dollars every year in just such publications as that. We are told that to abolish this department and put an end to these publications will be taking a step backwards. I reply to that "the wise man forseeth the danger and turneth aside, the fool goeth on and is destroyed."

The truth of the whole matter is that the genius of our people does not suit bureaux. The true way to develop Georgia is not to establish bureaux, with high salaries and soft places for a few favored individuals, but by going forth into the fields bearing the brunt of the burden and the heat of the day to make two stalks grow where only one grew before. It may be that the farmers of Georgia have lost confidence in themselves and are willing to pay $50,000 per year to have their fertilizers inspected; it may be that they are willing to surrender their judgment and their rights: it may be that henceforth, forsaking the wisdom and advice of their fathers, they will cry aloud to the bureau to bring them out of the slough of despondency. When this comes to pass it will be a sad day for Georgia and her sons will cease to be worthy descendants of noble sires "——What constitutes a State?

Not high-raised walls, nor moated gate,
Nor broad armed ports where rich navies ride,
Nor, kings, nor princes, no courts,
Where pride is wafted on the breeze,
* * * *
Nor proud cities, lofty mountains, valleys;
But men, high-minded men,
Men who know their rights,
And knowing, date maintain them!"
[Applause.]

The Southern Railroad.

Chicago Tribune.

A remark was made about the prosperity of Cincinnati, and the completion of the Southern Railroad. These are topics very near to the heart of the good Deacon.

"Cincinnati has given bonds to the amount of $18,000,000 for the construction of the Southern Road." said Mr. Smith; "and that is all there is of it. Cincinnati built the Southern Road."

"What is the bonded indebtedness of Cincinnati?"

"Twenty-six millions of dollars is all," replied Mr. Smith, with an air which seemed to indicate that this sum was a mere trifle. Even the Chicago interviewer, accustomed to the mountainous, cloud-capped municipal debt of his own city, paused and took a long breath upon hearing this jaunty statement.

"Our water-works cost us about $10,000,000." Mr. Smith went on to say that they estimated that, at the end of the first three years after the completion of the road to Chattanooga, the road would pay one-half the interest on the debt, and in five years it would pay the whole. As soon as the road began to pay the interest, a good many of the first issue of bonds would be taken in.

"We are going to have a first-class road," remarked Mr. Smith, enthusiastically. "The position of Cincinnati as regads the South is favorable. We lie midway between Pittsburg, on the east; Cleveland, Toledo, and Detroit, on the north; and Chicago and St. Louis, on the west. Cincinnati will sweep the entire Southern country. A man can leave Chattanooga in the morning, arrive at Cincinnati, have a whole day for trading here, and return the next day. The wholesale trade of Cincinnati will receive and impetus never felt before."

"When will this road be finished"

"The contract specifies the 14th of December, and the contrctors are now sixty days ahead of time."

Mr. Smith went into a description of the unrivaled advantages of the South, —consisting of minerals, soil, climate and productions. He pronounced Kentucky one of the richest States in the Union, made so by Nature,—but in reality one of the poorest.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester.

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:
It does not destroy the draft.
It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.
It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.
It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)
It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.
It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.
It can be attached to any boiler.
No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as charged for water or horse-power.
Send for illustrated circulars and price list.

"Ever Believe me Affectionately Yours."

Ever believe you true? Dear friend,
Your words so precious are that I
Can but repeat them o'er and o'er,
And kiss the paper where they lie.
How shall I thank you for this pledge,
This sweet assurance which destroys
The doubt that you my love repaid,
And changes all my fears to joys?

Ever believe you true? I will!
I hold you to this written gage;
This shall console me, now you're gone;
Still next my heart I'll bear the page;
By day and night, where'er I go,
It shall my prized companion be;
And if a thought would 'gainst you rise,
This from all blame shall set you free.

Ah, need I say, believe me true?
You know how tender, yet how strong.
This heart's emotions are, now half
Of all its throbs to you belong;
How fain 'twould burst its prison walls
To nestling beat against your own;
How joyous 'twas when you were near,
How sadly yearning now, alone.

Ah, 'till the weary life is done,
Though we again may never meet,
Let's not forget the bygone days
That like a dream passed, swift and sweet;
Still let the knowledge of my love
Thy faith in humankind renew;
Let that great love still for me plead,
And, to the last, believe me true!

Chambers' Journal.

The Poor Brakemen.

There is a great deal of human nature in a brakeman—quite as much, probably, as the average man possesses. Brakemen flirt. This has doubtless been noticed by people who travel, because brakemen are not particular about keeping any little thing of this kind to themselves. They flirt, in fact, in such a joyous and demonstrative way that all the world must have found out. The managers of a leading New York railroad got a knowledge of this a few weeks ago and without reflecting upon the dangers of flirting in the abstract concluded it would be to the advantage of the company's business to put a stop to it if possible. It has never been ascertained that any train was smashed up up while a brakeman has been engaged in wickedly flirting and neglecting his business, and yet it is dreadful to think that half the accidents that have happened since railroads were invented may have been caused by flirting brakemen. Some such horrible reflections as this in all probability induced the managers of the New York road to issue an order to prohibit the brakemen from flirting, and now when a train skims by a bright-eyed milkmaid or a farmer's rosy daughter or a brown maiden picking berries, or anybody in gowns, the brakeman has got to turn his head and contemplate something dismal and more in the line of his business.

The rapidity with which PERSONS TAKE ON FLESH while under the influence of these pills, indicates their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, melancholy, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, sluggishness of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health & strength to the system. ——The "Jonah boys" may think they are having a huge time, but there is a whale looking for them.

——Mr. Lincke has furnished 1,039 free baths to impecunious youngsters since he opened his swimming school.

——An interesting meeting is in progress at Holland Church, a few miles south of Raleigh, conducted by Rev. Dr. Bobbitt.

——James R. Baker, of the firm of Booth & Baker, of Suffolk, Va., and one of the leading merchants of that place, is in the city on a visit to friends here.

——The distinguished Atlanta divine who so acceptably filled Dr. Pritchard's pulpit last Sunday is prominently mentioned in Baptist circles as Dr. P's. successor.

——The Wilson Swift-foot Base Ball Club informs the NEWS that it is ready to accept a challenge from any junior club in the State or South. Where is the Raleigh Swift-foot Club?

——Pigs—ripe, roaring, squalling monsters—were in the market yesterday, selling at from $1.00 to $1.25. Accordingly barbecues hang thick upon every bush.

——Mayor Manly's soneis suffering from an attack of bilious fver. However, the little fellow possesses a fair share of the vim that characterized his father, and undoubtedly will be up and doing in a few days.

——Mr. Lincke has given his pond a thorough overhauling. He has extended the width about thirty feet, has taken out what mud has gathered and has graveled the bottom. On Wednesday morning the pond will again be opened to the public.

——Friday Jones, a well-known colored man of this city, has just returned from Hancock county, Illinois, where he is supposed to rightfully own three hundred and twenty acres of land valued at $8,000. He says his lawyer assures him that his claim is good, and Uncle Friday expects to be rich yet.

That Mandamus.

The School Bill mandamus case has been set for hearing by the Supreme Court on Friday next.

Mrs. Moon at Oxford.

As elsewhere Mrs. Moon's preaching in Oxford is bringing sinners to repentance by the score. Up to Friday night forty-three persons had professed religion. The good work goes on and gains daily in interest. Such preaching has not been heard in Oxford in many days, says our informant.

U. S. Commissioner's Court.

Charles Moore (colored), was yesterday arrested by deputy King and taken before Commissioner Purnell, upon the charge of having passed counterfeit money. Charge sustained and prisoner committed. He afterward gave bail and was released from "durance vile."

A Valuable Farm.

Several of Raleigh's best citizens, among whom were Messrs. G. W. Wynne, W. A. Turk, R. H. Battle, M. T. Leach and Dr. McKee, paid a visit to Mr. I. M. Cooley, of House Creek township, yesterday, and after a pleasant conversation inspected his farm, and without hesitation pronounced it the best farm in the township. This is a fine compliment for the proprietor.

A Treat in Store.

The person who has not yet read General Taylor's Book has a treat in store. It is the most entertaining and original war record ever written, handling its subject in a style peculiarly characteristic of the author. As he was a brave soldier so was he a fearless writer. The book is sold by Alfred Williams & Co., Raleigh, and a copy will be sent by mail, post paid, to any address, on receipt of price, $2.00.

Almost Frost.

Theo. Davison Esq., of Buncombe county, is in the city attending the Supreme Court. The sportive "cold wave" reached the mountains last Saturday and drove the summer dwellers in that enchanting region panic stricken into winter quarters. It was cold enough for frost, and in some of the more elevated places it is believed there was frost. Capt. Davidson reports good crops in the west.

Justice's Court.

JUSTICE WATTS.—Stephen W. Jones assaulted the wife of Charles Walton and was fined.

A. C. Cleaveland was also arrested and fined for striking the child of Sampson Anderson.

JUSTICE BARBEE.—A cross case was tried of Charles Walton, arrested on complaint of Stephen W. Jones for assault and battery. He was compelled to pay costs and give bonds to keep the peace.

Attention.

Messrs. David Lewis and J. T. Rogers, assessors for the county at large, will meet the Raleigh township assessor on Monday next, 28th instant, and together with those officers, correct and revise the Tax list, hear complaints, equalize the valuation of all real and personal property, moneys and credits within the Township, and generally exercise the power conferred upon them by law. The assessors will continue in session from day to day until the list shall have been fully revised.

The Postoffice Building.

Messrs. Whitelaw & Campbell, contractors for repairs and improvements on the United States postoffice building in this city, have completed the outside work of the building, the pointing being the last. The sidewalk has been relaid; the unsightly looking outhouses have been removed from the rear part of the grounds; the lot has been seeded to grass and the roadway in the rear is being constructed. The work now going on is in the basement, and when completed it is natural to suppose that Colonel McDonald will be satisfied, unless he has more worlds to conquer.

North Carolina Cereals.

There is on exhibition at the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture a bundle of "Chinese Hullless Oats," raised by Mr. W. G. Cooper, of Wake county. The Commissioner pronounces the specimen as simply magnificent. The chief merit of the variety is that the grain threshes out like wheat, leaving no hull. This variety may well be considered an acquisition to North Carolina grains. For oatmeal it is pronounced superior.

Messrs. R. M. Miller & Son, of Mecklenburg county, also furnish a specimen of "Rust-proof Wheat." This year's wheat turned out sixty-four pounds to the struck bushel, and in point of crop twenty-three bushels to one sown, that is twenty-three bushels to the acre. These gentlemen are considered so trustworthy that their statement may be taken as correct. This is claimed to be the only rust-proof wheat known.

Mayor's Court.

Peter Williams, James Higgs and George Rogers were arrested on complaint of Robert Thrower for assault and battery. It seems that Robert was a new comer in Cook's brickyard, and at that celebrated institution, like unto West Point or Princeton College, every new arrival has to undergo a case of "hazing." Robert being a Democrat and his colleagues being of the opposite political stripe, they might possibly have made the fun a little bit stiffer. However the damage was slight, and the Mayor taking this view of the case imposed a nominal fine, and this startling Southern outrage was ended.

William White (colored) was arrested on a charge of false pretenses preferred by Patrick Dolan. Sum involved $1.85. It turned out to be a breach of trust, and William was ordered to make restitution. The last heard of him he was uprooting the city to find the sum.

Martin Mott was a d. and d. Five dollars was the ending of his celebration.

Martin Richardson spent twelve solid hours in catching flies in the guardhouse yesterday.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879.—The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, ESQ., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,
WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

Healthfulness.

A distinguished physician says: "After a careful examination of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, I am satisfied that it is a wholesome preparation. I have introduced it among my patients, and have yet to learn where a convalescent patient could not indulge in warm biscuits made with it, and feel the better for it.

Good Results of Life Insurance.

Another practical illustration of the value of Life Insurance is found to exist in the fact that the Ætna Life Insurance Company through their General Agent, W. H. Crow, has just paid $2,000 for a policy on the life of Colonel Joel Laflin, deceased, and also has in hand $5,000 to pay Mrs. Englehard for a policy upon the life of her late husband, J. A. Englehard, Esq., Secretary of State at the time of his death. Major W. H. Crow will be pleased to see or hear from any parties desiring to make a safe and judicious investment in this old and truly worthy institution which has been managed by him in North Carolina and Virginia for fourteen years.
